Theme test page

This page has no background of its own. In the dark theme the reader paints the paper in the theme's colour before drawing the page. The chart below keeps its key matched to its lines in both themes, because the key and the lines take their colours from the same palette entries.

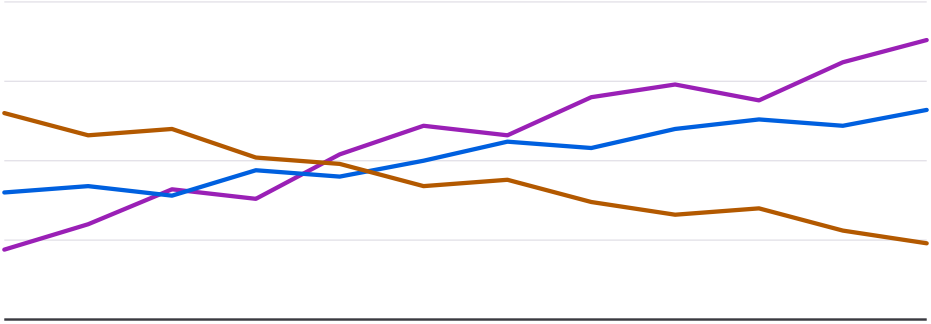

Figure 1: Vector chart: the key and the lines share palette entries.

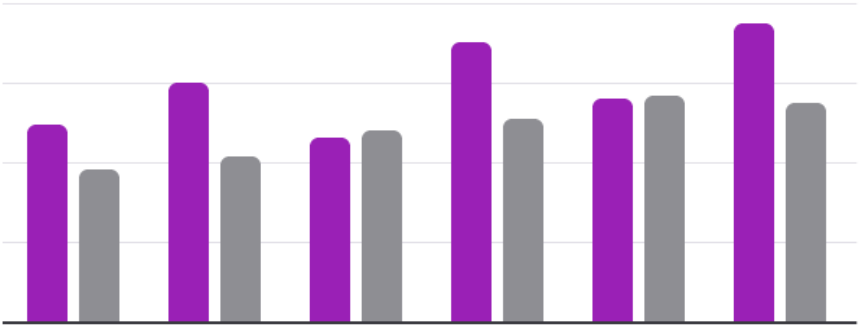

Figure 2: The same kind of chart as an image: one plane of pixels, a palette per theme.

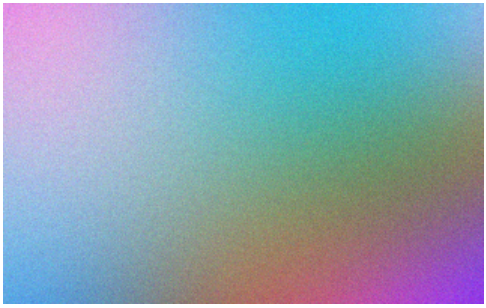

Figure 3: A full-colour image is the same in both themes, so it is stored once.